(6) Continuous assessment is carried out during the teaching period of the semester; its forms are listed in the syllabus (for example, written assignment, test, semester project, semester paper, essay, presentation).

(7) Final evaluation and overall assessment of the course are carried out after the teaching period of the semester in forms of credit test, graded credit test, examination or state examination.

(8) Results achieved by the student within the study of the course in Bachelor's, Master's and Master of Science study program are assessed by six classification grades:

Marking		Total percentage
letters	words
A	Excellent	91-100 %
B	Very good	81-90 %
C	Good	71-80 %
D	Satisfactory	61-70 %
E	Sufficient	51-60 %

(9) Student completes the course and is awarded credits, if his or her results were assessed with any of the classification grades from A to E.

(10) Student can obtain credits for the successful completion of the particular course merely once during the study of a particular study program.

(11) Matters of assessment of the study within the course – with the exception of the course “Final thesis“ and other courses of state examination in accordance with accreditation file of the respective study program – are decided by the teacher, in case of contentious issues the decision is made by the head of department where the course is provided.

(12) The compulsory course “Final thesis“ (hereinafter referred to as “FT“) is a course with a specific role in the study program. FT course is distinguished from other courses in the following points:

- it consists of drawing up of the final thesis in the prescribed form and its defense,
- continuous assessment of the FT course represents the opinion of the supervisor after submission of the final thesis to the University Library of TUKE, which is not included in the overall assessment of the course “Final thesis“,
- the final assessment of the FT course represents the assessment of final thesis defense. This assessment is also the overall assessment of the FT course.

(13) Weighted study average (Vp) is used to evaluate the student's study results in a determined period. It is calculated by using the formula: $Vp = \Sigma(P_i K_i) / \Sigma K_i$, in which P_i is a classification grade expressed as total percentage from the i -th course and K_i is the number of credits for the i -th course. Weighted study average Vp is rounded to whole percentage, and average grade for the assessed period of study Z can be matched to it. Z is calculated using the formula: $Z = (249 - 2Vp)/49$. Average grade of the assessed period Z is rounded to 2 decimal places.

(14) In drawing up waiting lists for merit scholarships and accommodation in student dormitories, all the courses of the respective study program selected for the assessed period of study, including the courses graded by Fx are counted into the weighted study average Vp .

(15) The weighted study average Vp for the entire study period, which is stated in the Diploma Supplement, includes only the successfully completed courses of the study program and recognized courses.

Article 15
